Local Public Housing Authorities

Contacting the Local Public Housing Authority is a good first step in obtaining affordable housing. The Housing Authorities help qualifying individuals obtain a voucher (sometimes called Section 8) or assistance living in a subsidized apartment complex. These programs are both income-based, where an eligible family only pays 30% of their income towards rent. Some individuals may be eligible with no income.

For any of these programs, you must contact the Local Public Housing Authority directly. Some small cities and rural areas do not have their own Public Housing Authorities. In these cases, an individual will need to contact the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs (TDHCA) who will serve as their local Public Housing Authority. Housing Authorities often have waitlists, and their waitlists may not be available all year round.

Additional Affordable Options listed below. These options help property developers offer affordable rental options in the community. These two options are offered at the complex if indicated and are not provided by the Housing Authority. Please inquire at the properties.

Low-Income Tax Credit Properties: These properties offer housing for eligible low-income renters below the market rate. Contact each property directly to learn more about the eligibility criteria. There is usually a waiting list for these properties.

USDA Rural programs: This is a federal program funded under the U.S. Department of Agriculture Office of Rural Development. This program addresses the housing needs of low-income parties who reside in rural areas. Contact each property directly to learn more about the eligibility criteria.

Supported Housing: This is affordable housing that allows people with disabilities to live independently with onsite help.
