“We responded to the things in front of us. There was an opportunity with these abandoned houses, and artists who wanted to do something more meaningful.”

Rick Lowe, Co-Founder

ENRICHING COMMUNITIES
THROUGH COLLECTIVE CREATIVITY

“PRH seeks another path, recognizing that the many different kinds of creativity that people possess can be the basis for a bottom-up approach to development, without displacement, which carefully cultivates a capacity for collective efficacy, social cohesion, and democratic self-determination.”

George Lipsitz

Financial, Artistic, Career & Empowerment Center (FACE)

FACE is designed for unemployed and underemployed Third Ward neighbors in search of one-on-one career coaching, financial coaching, and assistance completing applications for public benefits (such as SNAP, TANF, WIC, etc.). Through the Financial, Artistic, Career, and Empowerment Center (FACE) participants meet Project Row Houses' coaches individually while working towards their employment and financial goals.
